FIRE AT NAZARENE

The former Beulah Chapel, now the Nazarene Church, was badly damaged by fire recently, a few nights after the Ashdod Schoolhouse was burned.

The church, built in 1900, was called the Free Christian Church. As the parish grew, the church was too small to accomodate the parishioners, and a new church was built on Summer St.

New pews donated to the new church were stored in the shed behind the church, and were damaged by the fire.
